I _____ Am a _____, _____, _____!

Why is this information important? You can't change other people, but you can change how you work with them and how you deal with their reactions and actions. You will learn how to adjust your personality to better work with your family, friends and co-workers. Through learning this information you will work with the wisdom of understanding other personalities creating a healthy working situation bringing greater wealth to you and your wallet!

Reds see a situation done and think it is. We express ourselves well and motivate others in getting things done. Blues can create dreams that Reds would not have dreamed about. They are Future Based thinkers. Yellows need to know all the facts before they react or act on anything. Greens are great listener's and will nurture and protect. They are very caring and take care of themselves as well. Purples are the ones that will brainstorm ideas to death. Purples together will come up with tons of ideas, but nothing gets done- unless they have red in them. Orange people under promise and over deliver, they are very realistic.

Blacks are emotional, focused and loyal. Whites are Objective, curious and analytical. Browns are aware, authentic and compassionate.

Not sure you like who you are through color? Change or tweak your weakness and control your strengths. You are the only one that can change you. Be the person you want to be with this knowledge.

Can Your Colors Change?

When your primary colors change you...May be questioning your life goals.

When your secondary colors change you...May be going through a tough relationship period.

When your achromatic colors change you...May be questioning your core being. You're indecisive or on shaky ground.
